The Traffic Control Department of Mumbai successfully organized a Traffic Training Event on the occasion of National Road Safety Week to introduce volunteers to the new traffic signs and rules and aimed to create awareness among volunteers for making our Nation a safe place to roam around.

The National Service Scheme (NSS) Volunteers of Fr. Conceicao Rodrigues College of Engineering enthusiastically registered for the training program. On the day of the event, volunteers gathered near the old canteen. A total of 23 Volunteers and the Program Officer Prof. Pradeep Singh Sir joined along for the event.

Upon reaching the destination at 2 PM, volunteers grabbed their places. The session already began with the presentation. Mr. Yuvraj R. Kumar Sir, a traffic police inspector, was hosting it. He managed to grab the attention of all the volunteers with his interactive session. He showcased different sign boards. He introduced us to the different traffic technical terminologies and terms.

Next, in a gesture of gratitude for engaging volunteers and participating in the impactful traffic training session, the program officer was invited to the stage. The session ended with a feedback session by volunteers regarding the session conducted. They mentioned how back-to-back sessions were conducted by them for different categories and groups of people to create awareness among citizens. Then they offered evening snacks to all the volunteers and the session ended at nearly 4:00 PM. We went to ACP sir and Mr. Yuvraj Sir and we informed them how amazing the session they had conducted. We had registered to volunteer for the traffic program for which they will be providing us with the traffic jersey and caps.

The traffic training event was really helpful for all the volunteers. We pledged to follow the traffic rules and committed to raising awareness about various traffic terms. We learned that our goal is to contribute to a safer nation, free from accidents, and ensure our roads are secure for everyone.

The Traffic Training Program organized by the Traffic Control Department of Mumbai was a resounding success. It not only fulfilled the objective of enhancing our volunteers' understanding of road safety but also promoted a spirit of being responsible while being present on the road. The event stands as a testament to our commitment to holistic education and community engagement.
